

All the steps of posting my name into a "Kanye Nickname" generator .php, I went into the source code of the site and found post and a name variable being assigned "realname". In Putty, I used the curl statement below (-F)

sirius.cs.odu.edu - PuTTY
login as: lknodt
lknodt@sirius.cs.odu.edu's password:

sirius:~> curl -X POST -F "realname=Luke Knodt" http://kanyenickname.com/index.php

and searched through the code to find my new name.

sirius.cs.odu.edu - PuTTY
<h2>Luke Knodt from this day forward you will also be known as Chocolate
Givenchy
. Have people address you as such.</h2><a href='http://twitter.com/home?st atus=My @KanyeNickname is Chocolate
Givenchy
. Generate yours at http://kanyenickname.com'><img src='http://kanyenickname.com/twee

Knowing that I had to make sure I got a "200" response from the server, I inputted the different curl statement below (-I)

sirius.cs.odu.edu - PuTTY
" height="20" width="115" src="http://platform.tumblr.com/v1/follow_button.html?butto n_type=2&tumblelog=jeremywatt&color_scheme=light"></iframe>

</body>
</html>
sirius:~> curl -X POST -I "realname=Luke Knodt" http://kanyenickname.com/index.php

And I got the "200" message

curl: (6) Could not resolve host: realname=Luke Knodt
HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 27 Jan 2017 04:36:00 GMT
Server: Apache/2.2.22
X-Powered-By: PHP/5.3.29
Vary: User-Agent,Accept-Encoding
Transfer-Encoding: chunked
Content-Type: text/html
sirius:~>

and therefore have verified that my new name is Chocolate Givenchy.
